"PART-TIME SAFETY DIRECTOR"

SERVICES

For a fraction of the cost of employing a full-time safety professional, HotBox Safety Consultants provides all of the services a business needs to manage its safety and compliance risks while building a stronger culture of safety.

Why Clients choose us?

Many small to medium-sized businesses in the U.S. understand the need for a formal safety program but lack the size and resources necessary to support the employment of a full-time safety professional.

A common error among businesses is appointing an employee from within the organization with the role of Safety Director without the education, background, and relevant experience. This person faces an uphill battle in reducing losses, costs, and making a significant impact.
